LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

“Please pay no attention to the milling about group of Emil GOF Zombie Samples as they will not harm you unless you fail to heed the warning on page #2 in your program about offering smokes or spare change for Happy Meals regardless of the pleading by any given Zombie Sample.
They all are part of a program by the New National Government out of Tulsa to rehabilitate Zombie Samples in a "scared straight" program where they are subjected to 12-hous-per-day of Emil lectures on "Why Johnny Can't Blink" and/or the dangers of Red Curry Pancake Addiction if you are not seeking direct passage to the Multiverse Transient Station run by the FEMA Workforce Alliance.

Turn to page #37 and read with me, Emil's next letter."

After all the commendable statements regarding the Jedi Refugees, it is essential to acknowledge that they were the foremost to depart as soon as it was evident that the final defeat of Ahriman and his dominion had ensued. They were, in fact, among the initial group to comprehend and arrange for interstellar escape. I don't mean to criticize them, as some of my

Maybe, no one knew?
Maybe, it all had been forgotten in the million plus years since that Age of Zeateppe?
It's possible, but since those WEF leaders didn't visit the KitKat Gentleman's Bar and Grill, I'm not sure.

The only information I have is what I hear around town, which isn't much these days.
The one thing I take away from my firsthand dealings and late nights of drinking with these rogue Jedis is that they possess a sense of humor that sets them apart from the dry, scholarly language of historical white papers.

They do!
Here is one of my favorite jokes:
"How many Jedi does it take to change a lightbulb for a CIS Human?"
"How many?" You may ask.
Well, the answer, minus the extended Jedi curse words, is that it has never been accomplished because the CIS is far too primitive to associate light and bulb as one concept.
Instead, they would likely

What a hoot these chaps were, especially after a few bottles of my premium Cuban rum acquired through the help of those DHL pirates who supported the Korean Home Shopping Shortwave Network during the underground "consumer" rebellion against the Antifa militias.

filled with intrigue and transformative experiences, even on a simple trip to the local shop during the heyday of the Antifa Militia.
I hear that some of the worst offenders fled when the ROT (Republic of Texas) and their Mexican Federales attacked Tulsa. They went south-west and joined the demonized Lloyd Austin Bio-Gender Brigade, who had taken over the Tucson area and

The news from that region has gone silent, leaving uncertainty over whether the newly appointed provincial government has closed down the resurgent media outlets or whether the speculation about the government's retrieval of some of the older generation's nuclear weapons is true.

Regrettably, it remains unclear whether Tucson and General Austin still exist.
The local Civil Defense authority from Tulsa has issued a peculiar newspaper to all the cities in this area, refuting reports that the new government or its General Defense Committee have violated the International Law of 2024, which Would dropping a nuke on Tucson suffice as having been destroyed?

Hey, that is above my pay grade and like who really cares anymore when our main concerns are more about whether the bus to St. Louis Port will actually arrive this week. Let's just say that our priorities are more local these days.
It's effortless to criticize the amusement provided at the KitKat Club, but finding a skilled pianist in current times is a demanding task and the bartender lamented:

"Let me tell you, times have changed since the days when numerous long-haired, honky-tonk bar bands would pass through town seeking meals and a few pounds to travel to St. Louis.
We had a child recently who I am convinced could

"What happened with him?"
I inquired out of casual interest and not to offend this garrulous barkeep.
In reality, he is the sole barkeep at the lone bar providing anything besides the homemade, bathtub whisky that has

Of course, the original Big Guy is now long gone but, old habits die hard or maybe, the WEF Warlords and the remaining Antifa Militia are hoping that the locals don't know the truth and they will keep on paying their monthly "Big Guy" Tax.

A tragedy, indeed."
And, so, that's how my week went on the Road to St. Louis.
Thinking I may stay here for a while if I can obtain reasonable boarding and maybe an odd job or two.
I say this as the last bus back from the Port of St.

Louis threw panic into the town as the driver had taking ill with some new virus that is going around.
The city council had a meeting this afternoon and decided to put additional roadblocks out on the Interstate and a number of the major backroads to divert traffic from the port until they are sure that any danger had passed.
The bus and the sick driver were ordered out

Lot's of panic all about and I really am in no hurry to go to a plague town.
There will be a boat again, next month!
I am hopeful that I will be able to write again soon from my beach home way down in sunny Antarctica.
